A SUDDEN TWINGE

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of the twinge is found in the blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisons which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism. Because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous uric acid which is the cause of the disease.

"Your Golden Medical Discovery" cured me of rheumatism after I had tried a dozen remedies without success.

also gone West in search of health," writes Harry Kitter, of No. 145 8th Street, Denver, Colo. "Only those who have suffered from this dread malady know the pain and misery I endured for over five years. Whenever the weather was damp or cold my troubles were increased and my joints would be so stiff and sore that I was hardly able to move about, and often unable to dress myself. I used a number of highly recommended medicines, but they had no effect whatever on me, and I came to Colorado hoping to regain my health, but failed to obtain the relief I had hoped for. A gentleman in the house where I lived advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and in four months and a half after I began using it I was a well man, and have had no touch of it for the past seven months."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Those who accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

These tiny, sugar-coated antibilious granules regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor. Put up in vials; always fresh and reliable.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

To Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

BATTLE OF EUTAW SPRINGS.

The following extract is taken from memoirs of the War in the Southern Department of the United States, by Henry Lee, Lieutenant Colonel Commandant of the Partisan Legion: vol. 2, page 285. Published in Philadelphia in 1812. This book belongs to the library of James Monroe and is now in the possession of the Maryland Historical Society:

Greene determined to strike a conclusive blow, brought up the Marylanders and Virginians, when our line became dense, and pressing forward with a shout the battle raged with redoubled fury. The enemy, sensible that the weight of our force was bearing upon him, returned our shout, and sustained himself nobly from right to left. Majoribanks now for the first time was put in motion, which being perceived, Lieut. Col. Washington, with the reserve, was commanded to fall upon him, and at the same moment the line was ordered to hold up its fire and charge with bayonet. The air again resounded with the shouts of the advancing Americans; the enemy answered by pouring in a close and quickly repeated fire. As we drew near Lieutenant Colonel Lee, at the head of his infantry, discerning that he outstretched the enemy's line, ordered Captain Rudolph to fall back with his company to gain the enemy's flank and to give him a raking fire as soon as he turned it. This movement was executed with precision and had the happiest effect. The enemy's left could not sustain the approaching shock, assailed in front as it was in flank, and it instantly began to give way, which quickly afterwards took place along the whole line, in some parts of which the hostile ranks contended with the bayonet; many individuals of the Marylanders and of the Bulls having been mutually transfixed. The conquering troops pressed the advantage they had gained, pursuing the foe and possessed themselves of his camp, which was yielded without a struggle. Washington promptly advanced to execute the orders he had received and made a circuit to gain the rear of Majoribanks, preceded by Lieutenant Stuart with the leading section. As he drew near to the enemy, he found the ground thickly set with black jack, and almost impervious to horse. Deranging as was this unlooked for obstacle Washington with his dauntless cavalry forced his way, notwithstanding the murderous discharge of the enemy, safe behind his covert. Human courage could not surmount the obstruction which interposed, or this gallant officer with his intrepid corps would have triumphed. Captain Watts, second in command, fell, pierced with two balls. Lieutenants King and Simmons experienced a similar fate, and Washington's horse being killed, he became entangled in the fall, when struggling to extricate himself he was bayoneted and taken. Lieutenant Stuart was now dismounted, being severely wounded and his horse killed close to his section escape, some being killed and the rest wounded. The gallant young Carlisle (Carlisle), from Alexandria, a cadet in the regiment, was killed and half the corps destroyed; after which the residue was drawn off by Captain Parsons, assisted by Lieutenant Gordon. This repulse took place at the time the British line gave way. Majoribanks, although victorious, fell back to cover his flying comrades.

STILLINGS TO BE OPPOSED.

It seems that trouble is brewing for the new Government Printer, Charles S. Stillings. He will not take charge of the office until November 25. He has done nothing to indicate what his policy will be as to the "open shop."

When this question was raised about two years ago by the now famous Miller case, President Roosevelt laid down the "open shop" doctrine so plainly that it could not be mistaken. The case involved the right of the allied unions in the government printing office to discipline one of its members. Miller's appeal to the President was investigated carefully by George B. Cortelyou, then Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the President issued his "open shop" order, under the terms of which the government printing office is to be unionized.

What practical effect the President's order has had in making it easier for nonunion printers, pressmen, binders, &c., to get employment in the government printing office as a matter of course.

The belief is growing that a stiff fight will be made against Stillings' confirmation in the Senate. A quiet but determined movement is going on to enlist the active interest of the allied unions against Stillings' confirmation, and it is persisted in probably will culminate in a hard fight in the Senate this winter. Platt, of New York, is chairman of the

A Creeping Death. Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores.

Senate committee on printing, his associates being Elkins, of West Virginia, and Gorman, of Maryland.

The House committee on printing also consists of three members—Charles B. Landis, of Indiana; J. B. Perkins, of New York, and Farish C. Tate, of Georgia. While the latter committee has no vote on the confirmation of the government printer's appointment, it can wield strong influence either way, because it largely controls all House legislation affecting the printing office.

A gentleman who discussed this matter with the President within the last few days said yesterday that President Roosevelt had decided upon the selection of Stillings only after he had satisfied himself that Stillings would prove satisfactory in every way, and that therefore the President would leave to his appointee the working out of the proper policy in the treatment of all classes of employees in the government printing office.

Monument to Confederate Dead.

An earnest effort will be made this winter to raise funds for a monument to the Confederate dead who rest in the National Cemetery at Arlington. A meeting will be held this month by a committee, consisting of representatives of the various Confederate memorial societies in Washington, at which plans will be made to raise the money needed for a fitting shaft to commemorate the valor of the soldiers of the Confederacy who are buried at Arlington. The Confederates are buried in one of the most beautiful portions of Arlington, and it has been the especial care of the Daughters of the Confederacy to look after their graves. It is expected to raise between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars for the monument that is to be placed in the Confederate section of the cemetery, and there has already been some tentative correspondence with various eminent sculptors of this country for designs. At the meeting to be held this month definite action will be taken as to the amount of money to be raised and a programme will be outlined for collecting the funds.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards, of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. "The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time, to say nothing of the suffering." This liniment is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.
